

winter wonderland
December 29 • Highlands

callie & davis

engaged: 10 months

photography by Mike Larson
at Old Edwards Inn and Spa

1

2

Because Callie and Davis live in Georgia, their Highlands wedding was a destination for them and their guests. Once they decided on a winter wedding, they knew The Farm at Old Edwards was the perfect spot. "The glassed-in pavilion allowed for an outdoor feeling, especially since you could see the snow falling," says Callie, who is a wedding planner and designed her own wedding. For the reception décor, she decided on a color palette of silver and white with plum accents. To add to the formal feel of the day, Callie wore a fit-and-flare dress, which she topped with a fur shrug. "It was so magical and perfect," she says. Davis wore a handsome velvet suit jacket and a scarf that were "absolutely perfect for our wintry theme."

3 The silver and ivory stationery was understated and elegant. Callie loved matching the damask pattern of the invitations to the damask pattern on the linens.

3

4

5

6

4 Although the six bridesmaids looked like they were all wearing different dresses, it was actually the same one styled in different ways. "It was so fun letting them decide how to wear it," Callie says. She gifted a jeweled belt and fur wrap to each of her girls to complete the outfit. 5 "One of my favorite aspects of the tablescape would have to be the sequin table linens for our estate table," Callie recalls. A lush floral runner of ivory flowers ran down the length of the estate-style table, creating a glitz and glamorous focal point to the reception room. 6 To add to the rustic feel, the couple used birch logs with slits cut into them to display their escort cards. A dusting of fake snow was the final touch on the tablescape.

7 The five-tiered red velvet cake was iced with buttercream frosting and decorated with silver accents. A few fresh flowers finished it off. 8 The white florals that were used throughout the ceremony décor, reception décor and bouquets were soft and romantic. 9 Callie and Davis, who dated long-distance for four years before getting engaged, knew that they wanted to wait until they were living in the same city to say "I do." This sign, displayed at their reception, paid homage to their past while celebrating that the day had finally arrived.

7

8

CALLIE & DAVIS'S WEDDING INGREDIENTS

CEREMONY SITE Community Bible Church, Highlands

RECEPTION SITE The Farm at Old Edwards, Old Edwards Inn and Spa, Highlands

PHOTOGRAPHY Mike Larson

CONSULTANT We Tie the Knots

OFFICIANT Pastor Tom Davis/Due West United Methodist Church

GOWN Lazaro, Bridals by Lori, Atlanta

HAIR Sarah Nolan

MAKEUP Andrea Nay

SHOES Stuart Weitzman

WEDDING RINGS Benny's Jewelry

JEWELRY Necklace: family heirloom; earrings: a gift from the bride's father; belt and headband: Amanda Judge

BRIDESMAID DRESSES Jenny Yoo

FORMALWEAR Velvet jacket: Acquaviva, Bloomingdale's; pants: J.P. Tilford by Samuelsohn, Nordstrom; scarf: Bruno Piattelli, TJ Bailey for Men; groomsmen: Joseph Abboud, Black Tie by Lori

INVITATIONS Bella Figura

OTHER STATIONERY Georgia Ann's Paperie

FLOWERS Katie Loyd/Boukates

RENTALS Mercury glass candle holders and accent décor: We Tie the Knots

CATERING Old Edwards Inn

MUSIC Hans Daniels/Nice Guys DJ

CAKE Sweet Peeps

FAVORS The Knot Wedding Shop

TRANSPORTATION 1996 Porsche 911 Targa

REGISTRIES Anthropologie; Bloomingdale's; Crate & Barrel; Pottery Barn; Williams-Sonoma

HONEYMOON Punta Cana, Dominican Republic